

Tejas Ravi - Class of 2029

About Me:

Hi! My name is Tejas and I graduated from Canyon Crest Academy in San Diego. I am currently studying electrical engineering at UCLA. Because I grew up in San Diego, I love to spend time outdoors. I especially enjoy playing tennis and pickleball, hiking, and going to the gym.

Why ECE:

When I entered high school, I always thought I was going to be a math major or mechanical engineer. I discovered electronics and electrical engineering when I took a digital electronics design course in my junior year. Ever since then, I was hooked on circuits and chips. My interest was amplified after studying electromagnetism, and its applications to electronics, leading me to choose ECE as my field of study

Why UCLA:

UCLA was always one of my top choices and I am super grateful to be studying here. I chose UCLA because it is close to my hometown, and has a strong academic and social culture which is important to me. However, the real reason I chose UCLA was for the great food and that was definitely a well informed decision.

Education and Career Goals:

In terms of education, I hope to pursue a masters and I'm not yet sure about any further schooling. I hope to explore my options with all of the resources that UCLA has to offer and my future goals may change with regards to career.
